Introduction

National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) is a cooperative effort among city, county and state law enforcement agencies with the necessary application required for crime reporting. Agencies can use our web-based software or if they have a private vendor and their own Records Management System (RMS), they may export their data and send it to the Criminal Statistical Analysis Center (SAC) on a monthly basis. The SAC then imports any data submitted by agencies. All data received either through the State's web-based system or imported is then submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) where national reports, such as Crime in the United States, are generated. Every effort is made to have data submitted at the time of yearly publication. Data is live and can be retrieved at any time on the Attorney General's NIBRS website at sdcrime.nibrs.com.

Certain constraints should be noted in interpreting the collective data for the State. It must be noted that Indian Reservations are not included as they do not report crime statistics to the SAC. Indian Reservation crime data is collected directly by the FBI. Comparing data year to year gives a good picture of crime trends; however, keep in mind when comparing these figures to previous years that there is a difference in the number of agencies reporting each year. Also, these figures cannot be compared to data released by the FBI, as the FBI uses estimations for non-reported data and has a set deadline for accepting data.

Starting in 2008, the SAC only accepted NIBRS data. NIBRS is an incident-based reporting system designed to collect data on each incident and arrest within that occurrence. The most significant difference between NIBRS and the traditional summary Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) system is the degree of detail in reporting. Unlike the summary UCR system that collects data on only eight (8) Part I crimes, NIBRS collects 24 crime categories made up of 53 specific crimes called Group A offenses. In addition to the Group A offenses, there are ten Group B offense categories for which only arrest data are collected. The Hierarchy Rule is not used in NIBRS. Therefore, if more than one crime was committed by the same person or group of persons and the time and space intervals separating them were insignificant, all the crimes are reported as offenses in the same incident.

Law Enforcement Employees data is obtained by the SAC every year. This figure is calculated by the number of full-time sworn law enforcement officers and full-time civilian staff who are employed by active agencies as of October 31st each year.

In NIBRS, there are no "fixed" statistics because law enforcement agencies update their incidents as new information becomes available. These figures are based on statistics that were analyzed for a twelve-month period from January 1st-December 31st each year. The data included in this report can only be as accurate as the data provided by each reporting agency.

This publication has been condensed and every effort has been made to make it more accessible and user-friendly. If you are having difficulty locating the data you are looking for on the Attorney General's NIBRS website sdcrime.nibrs.com, you may request assistance from the Statistical Analysis Center at: SDNIBRS@state.sd.us

Crime Data

This publication includes counts for the NIBRS reported crimes of Murder and Non-Negligent Manslaughter, Rape, Robbery, Aggravated Assault, Burglary, Larceny-Theft, Motor-Vehicle Theft, Arson and Drug/Narcotic and Drug Equipment Violations. Because of their seriousness, frequency of occurrence and likelihood of being reported, all but the drug violations are regarded as an Index Crime. The first four crimes are violent crimes or crimes against persons. The remaining four crimes are serious property crimes. The drug violations are grouped as other crime. All remaining crimes that fall under Group A and Group B offenses can be accessed on the Attorney General’s NIBRS website at sdcrime.nibrs.com.

The following table is a profile of reported crimes for 2023 in South Dakota. This table includes calculated crime rates per 100,000 people. The use of crime rates in making comparisons in crime trends helps to minimize problems with crime data interpretation. However, readers are cautioned that crime rates cited are reliable indications of crime only to the extent that population estimates are accurate, that victims report crimes and NIBRS data is submitted to SD ATG DCI by law enforcement agencies.

Crime and Arrest Comparisons

The table shows the number of incidents and arrests reported each year, based upon UCR criteria, between 2020 and 2023 for each of the ten crimes. While comparisons of arrests to crimes reported could be useful measurements of law enforcement activity, caution must be exercised. Arrests reported in one year may be incidents that occurred in the same year or earlier. More than one individual can be arrested for a crime, or be arrested more than once during a given year. Therefore, arrest statistics reflect the number of arrests made, rather than the number of crimes solved or the number of different persons taken into custody.
